“Women’s Societal Empowerment – A Path to Gender Equality”

This is the title of the programme where KVINFO joins Arab and Danish organizations and institutions in mutually beneficial partnerships. The aim is to strengthen gender equality and women’s rights in the Middle East and North Africa and to further dialogue and cooperation between Denmark and the Arab world.

The work is concentrated within three key focus areas:

- Increasing women’s participation in social, political, and economic life – with the aim to strengthen women’s participation in their societies and to fight marginalisation on any level.
- Access to justice – to secure equal legal rights for women and to ensure they are able to exercise those rights in their lives.
- Research and documentation – a number of activities documenting gender and equality issues and disseminating and activating this knowledge in order to induce change.

There are projects in Denmark, Morocco, Tunisia, Yemen, Egypt, and Jordan as well as a number of regional projects.

The programme is financed by the Danish-Arab Partnership Programme under the Danish Ministry of Foreign Affairs.
