

RESOLUTION CONCERNING THE KOREAN WOMEN VICTIMS OF THE MILITARY SEXUAL SLAVERY BY JAPAN DURING WWII

We, the members of the International Association of Korean Lawyers, are dismayed by recent revelations of the extreme brutality and suffering inflicted on over 100,000 young Korean women who were forced into military sexual slavery by Japan during WWII.

We are further disappointed by the Japanese government's persistent refusal to take full responsibility for, and make full disclosure regarding, the military sexual slavery.

Therefore, we, at our Annual Meeting in San Francisco, hereby adopt the following resolutions on the issue in the interest of building a new relationship between Japan and Korea and of promoting the principles of the "Universal Declaration of Human Rights":

- 1) That the Japanese government immediately make full disclosure of all information and materials it has on this issue.
- 2) That the Japanese government offer full apology to the victims and pay full reparations to the surviving individual victims and the family members of the deceased victims.
- 3) That the Japanese government revise all its textbooks to include the full story regarding its genocide policy, including the military sexual slavery, during WWII.
- 4) That the Japanese government set up a special monument in memory of the victims and a special fund for further research and education on the subject matter.
- 5) That the UN and its member nations oppose any attempts by Japan to become a permanent member of the UN Security Council until the Japanese government fulfills its moral and legal obligations to the women victims of its military sexual slavery policy.
- 6) That the UN set up a special Tribunal to investigate all the facts on this issue, redress the victims, and prosecute the war criminals responsible so that this kind of heinous crime against humanity will not be repeated in the future.
