

KNOWLEDGE

Knowledge is the basis for creating solutions – when ensuring gender equality too.

Gender research and documentation is one of the key focus points of KVINFO's work in the Middle East and North Africa.

Academic research, collection of empirical reports, and production of gender specific statistics all form a platform for action. Policies for women's participation, social challenges, and equal access to justice and resources are developed based on knowledge.

Examples of KVINFO's partnerships on Gender Research and Documentation include:

- Developing better gender statistics and providing training in using them to develop effective policies in Jordan.
- A research library and master studies programme in gender and development at Sana'a University in Yemen.
- "Who is She" expert databases to promote professional women in several countries.
- Supporting the archiving and dissemination of the history of the Egyptian women's movement.

Read more about the work here

<http://kvinfo.org/mena/gender-research-and-documentation>